WEST VIRGINIA CODE: §31-19-21

§31-19-21. Severability.

If any section, part or provision of this article or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held unconstitutional or invalid, such unconstitutionality or invalidity shall not affect any other section, part or provision of this article or its application and to this end the provisions of this article are declared to be severable.

WV Legislature