

WEST VIRGINIA CODE: §44-1-27

§44-1-27. Not chargeable beyond assets; pleas allowed.

No personal representative or any surety of his shall be chargeable beyond the assets of the decedent by reason of any omission or mistake in pleading or false pleading of such representative. And in the action allowed by the preceding section the defendants may plead any pleas and offer any evidence which would be admissible in an action against a personal representative suggesting a devastavit.
