16 of each state executive committee and certificates of 17 announcement, if any, to the Secretary of State. Upon 18 certification of the election results, the Secretary of 19 State shall make known to each state executive

23 additional members of the committee from the state at 24 large which shall constitute the entire voting
25 membership of the state executive committee: Provided,
26 however, That if it chooses to do so, the committee may 27 by motion or resolution and in accordance with party 28 rules, may expand the voting membership of the 29 committee. When senatorial districts are realigned
30 following a decennial census, members of the state
31 executive committee previously elected or appointed 32 shall continue in office until the expiration of their 33 terms. Appointments made to fill vacancies on the 34 committee until the next election of executive 35 committee members shall be selected from the 36 previously established districts. At the first election of 37 executive committee members following the 38 realignment of senatorial districts, members shall be 39 elected from the newly established districts.

40 (b) At the primary election, the voters of each political 41 party in each county shall elect one male and one female 42 member of the party's executive committee of the 43 congressional district, of the state senatorial district and

58 applicable county executive committee for the purpose
59 of filling said vacancies as provided in subsection (f) of 60 this section. When districts are realigned following a
61 decennial census, members of an executive committee
62 previously elected in a county to represent that county
63 in a congressional or multicounty senatorial or delegate

104 thousand to fifty thousand; and the districts in counties
105 having a population of less than twenty thousand
106 persons shall be coextensive with the magisterial
107 districts.

108 (e) The executive committee districts shall be as nearly 109 equal in population as practicable and shall each be 110 composed of compact, contiguous territory. The county 111 commissions shall change the territorial boundaries of 112 the districts as required by the increase or decrease in 113 the population of the districts as determined by a
114 decennial census. The changes must be made within 115 two years following the census.

116 (f) All members of executive committees, selected for 117 each political division as herein provided, shall reside
118 within the county or district from which chosen. The

122 primary election and continue for four years thereafter,
123 except as provided in subsection (g) of this section.

128 district, delegate district or county shall be filled by the 129 party's executive committee of the county in which the 130 vacancy exists for the unexpired term.

131 (g) As soon as possible after the certification of the 132 election of the new executive committees, as herein
133 provided, the newly elected executive committee shall 134 convene an organizational meeting within their 135 respective political divisions, on the call of the chair of 136 the corresponding outgoing executive committee or by 137 any member of the new executive committee in the 138 event there is no corresponding outgoing executive 139 committee. During the first meeting the new executive 140 committee shall select a chair, a treasurer and a
141 secretary and other officers as they may desire. Each of 142 the officers shall, for their respective committees,
143 perform the duties that usually appertain to his or her
144 office. The organizational meeting may be conducted 145 prior to the first day of July, but must occur after the 146 certification of the election of the new executive 147 committees. If the organizational meeting is conducted 148 prior to the first day of July, the new committee shall 149 serve out the remainder of the outgoing committee's 150 term and is authorized to conduct official business. A
151 current listing of all executive committees' members
152 shall be filed with the Secretary of State by the end of 153 July of each year. Vacancies in any executive

154 committee shall be filled by the appropriate executive
155 committee as provided in subsection (f) of this section
156 no later than sixty days after the vacancy occurs. The 159 ten days of a change occurring. Executive committee

160 membership lists shall include at least the member's 161 name, full address, employer, telephone number and 162 term information. An appointment to fill a vacancy
163 does not take effect if the executive committee does not 164 submit the updated list to the Secretary of State within 165 the allotted time period. If the executive committee
166 fails to submit the updated list within the allotted time
167 period, it must make another appointment pursuant to 168 the provisions of this section and resubmit the updated
169 list in a timely manner. If a vacancy on an executive 170 committee is not filled within the sixty-day period
171 prescribed by this section; the chair of the appropriate
172 executive committee, as provided in subsection (f) of 173 this section, shall name someone to fill the vacancy. If 174 the chair of a county executive committee fails to fill a
175 vacancy in a congressional district, state senatorial 176 district or delegate district executive committee, and the 177 failure to fill such vacancy prohibits said committee
178 from conducting official business, the chair of the 179 party's state executive committee shall fill such 180 vacancy.

181 (h) Any meeting of any political party executive 182 committee shall be held only after public notice and 183 notice to each member is given according to party rules
184 and shall be open to all members affiliated with the
